

Social and Personal

A grey sky blotted out the April sunshine yesterday, and brought a glint of April's tears into play. A month of moods and fancies truly! Yet everywhere spring flowers are bursting and the leaves on the trees are growing so fast that each morning seems a fresh surprise. Wedding bells called Miss Society from her devotions, for celebrations of yesterday had to do with those in whom society is very deeply interested.

The marriage of Miss Mary St. Clair Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Smith, Jr., to Walter Lynwood Lefew, took place very quietly last evening, at half-past 8 o'clock, in the home of the bride's parents, 10 South Fifth Street. Only the immediate families and a few intimate friends of the bride and groom were present at the ceremony. Mr. Lefew is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lefew, of 906 Floyd Avenue.

Society Wedding in Norfolk. A smart event in the social world of Norfolk will be the wedding in Epworth Methodist Church, this evening, at 8 o'clock, of Miss Beale Dyer Crosby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warrington Crosby, to Louis Layton Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richmond Davis, of New Haven, Conn. The Rev. T. A. Smead will officiate.

Church decorations will be in palms, spring flowers and Easter lilies. The decorative idea will be carried out in the bride's home, where a reception to the bride couple will follow the ceremony. The bride will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Rufus King, as matron of honor. Mrs. King will wear a duchesse satin heavily embroidered and carry a shower of pink roses. The maid of honor, Miss Jessie Le Davis, of New Haven, will be given in pink crepe meter and have a bouquet of ferns and mignonette. A quartet of bridesmaids, Misses Mabel Hemmingsway, Louise Nichols, Josephine Johnson and Anna Rose, will follow the bride.

The program will include numbers by Mrs. John B. Jeffers, Jr., of New York, now visiting Mrs. John Jeffers, of Park Avenue; soprano soloist, Douglas Gordon, tenor; Mrs. H. H. Hagan, pianist; violinist, and Miss Goodwin, pianist.

Patronesses of the afternoon will be: Mesdames John Anderson, G. G. Valentine, William R. Cox, Arthur, Scrivener, R. H. Lindsay, Scott Park, W. Patterson, Ida W. Ellerson, George Powers, Clifford Caperton, James Gordon, Peyton Giles, William Minor, Walter Tanner, William Hill, W. S. P. Mayo, James Sharp, Hiram Smith, Edward Harrison, George A. Lloyd, J. P. Caskey, Misses Anderson, Lucetta Knox, Lolla and Beatie Hill and Annie Gray.

A Naval Wedding. A wedding in which Richmond and Virginia society is deeply interested will be celebrated April 22 in Baltimore, Md. The bride is Miss Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Vernon Miller, of Baltimore, who will be married to Ensign William Carter Wickham, United States Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Wickham, of Hickory Hill, near Richmond. The ceremony will be performed at Christ Episcopal Church at 4 P. M. by the Rev. P. M. in the presence of a large and fashionable assemblage, and will be followed by a reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Miller, 809 Cathedral Street. Miss Jane Miller will be the bride's maid of honor, and among the bridesmaids will be Miss Eliza Whyte and Miss Louise Whyte, cousins of the bride; Miss Emma Gray, of Richmond; Miss Lolla Miller, another of the bride's cousins; and Miss Jean Leonard, of Roland Park. The wedding will be a naval one, with the bridegroom, best man and ushers in the uniform of their rank.

Women's Meetings. At the regular monthly meeting of the Ginter Park Women's Club Thursday afternoon, a delightful musical will be tendered the club by the following artists: Miss Annie Louise Rinehart, Miss Myrtle Rogers, Mrs. William Rinehart and G. Watson James, Jr.

The board of managers of the Richmond Exchange for Women's Work will meet April 12 at noon, in the rooms of the exchange. The meeting is postponed from Friday, April 11, which falls this year on Good Friday. The Richmond Council of Jewish Women will meet this afternoon at 8:15 o'clock in the Sabbath school room of Temple Beth Anshah. The transaction of general business will be followed by an astronomical lecture on "Other Worlds" given by Professor Charles H. Winston, of Richmond College. Miss Corinne Samuels will render a vocal solo, with Mrs. John D. Murphy as accompanist. Members are cordially invited to bring friends, also grown children, as guests of the council.

An important meeting of Senior Oakwood Memorial Association will be held Friday, April 5, at 4 P. M., in the home of Mrs. C. W. Massie, of 2721 East Broad Street.

Reception at the Mansion. Miss William H. Hagan, who will receive in the Executive Mansion on Monday afternoon, in honor of the Kappa Delta Sorority, which will be in convention at the Jefferson Hotel next week. There will be seventy members of the sorority in Richmond, and some very pretty entertainments will be done in their honor.

In and Out of Town. Mrs. D. Saunders, of Crewe, Va., who has been visiting Mrs. L. E. Hurt, has returned home.

Mrs. Elanett Shepherd, of Dumfries, will have, as her guest during Easter week, Mrs. Edgar B. Walters, of New York.

Mrs. Charles Oakes, of New York, is the guest of Mrs. James J. Hickey.

Misses Edith and Elizabeth Hatcher, who have been spending the winter in Bryn Mawr and New York, will return to their home, at Park Union, Va., this time to attend the annual reception of the Cheverton Literary Society of the Fork Union Military Academy.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Carter, of Fayetteville, West Va., are with their daughter, Miss Vivian Carter, who has been brought from Hollings to Johnstone-Willie Hospital, this city.

Miss Katherine Hawes has gone North for Easter, and will remain to say good-bye to relatives who are going abroad for some months.

Mrs. Mary Johnston has returned from a short trip to Hot Springs. Miss Eloise Johnston will remain at the Hot for some days longer.

Mrs. A. J. Lefroy will spend the summer with relatives in England and

50c B & J Brassieres, 39c.

Of fine material; embroidery trimmed; full cut.

Kaufmann & Co.

Rt. Boyd, New York, Miss Bradley, New York; David Clarke, Bridgeport, Conn.; Ensign and Mrs. Rufus King, Arthur Collier, New Jersey; Thomas H. Day, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. R. D. Holbrook, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. and Mr. Robert Coleman, Jr., and Mrs. Coleman III, Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. Fuller, King of the Carnival. The polo dance of the Easter week Kirmess, for which rehearsals are being held daily, is one of its most unique features, and is being championed by Mrs. David Leuke. The principal figure, danced with clubs, is very difficult to execute, but under the faithful drilling of Miss Stuart is already approaching perfection. The girls will wear evening dresses, with hats, and the young men polo suits. There will be a special figure danced by Mrs. Walter Hagar, Miss Myra Chambers, Miss Ella Binford and Mr. Turner.

The dancers are as follows: Mrs. E. D. Hotchkiss, Wortham Spelman; Mrs. Ernest Meade, David Leuke; Mrs. Walter Hubbard, William Miller; Miss Ella Binford, Trevillian Turner; Miss Mary Moulton, Cecil Stevens; Miss Mary Traylor, Tom Hoyer; Miss Rosalie Minna, William Dickson.

Gar Fuller will be king of the carnival. Musical at Westhampton. A most attractive musical will be given in the home of Mrs. Julian Gaud, Westhampton, at 4 P. M. Thursday, April 11, by members of St. Stephen's Guild.

The program will include numbers by Mrs. John B. Jeffers, Jr., of New York, now visiting Mrs. John Jeffers, of Park Avenue; soprano soloist, Douglas Gordon, tenor; Mrs. H. H. Hagan, pianist; violinist, and Miss Goodwin, pianist.

Patronesses of the afternoon will be: Mesdames John Anderson, G. G. Valentine, William R. Cox, Arthur, Scrivener, R. H. Lindsay, Scott Park, W. Patterson, Ida W. Ellerson, George Powers, Clifford Caperton, James Gordon, Peyton Giles, William Minor, Walter Tanner, William Hill, W. S. P. Mayo, James Sharp, Hiram Smith, Edward Harrison, George A. Lloyd, J. P. Caskey, Misses Anderson, Lucetta Knox, Lolla and Beatie Hill and Annie Gray.

A Naval Wedding. A wedding in which Richmond and Virginia society is deeply interested will be celebrated April 22 in Baltimore, Md. The bride is Miss Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Vernon Miller, of Baltimore, who will be married to Ensign William Carter Wickham, United States Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Wickham, of Hickory Hill, near Richmond. The ceremony will be performed at Christ Episcopal Church at 4 P. M. by the Rev. P. M. in the presence of a large and fashionable assemblage, and will be followed by a reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Miller, 809 Cathedral Street. Miss Jane Miller will be the bride's maid of honor, and among the bridesmaids will be Miss Eliza Whyte and Miss Louise Whyte, cousins of the bride; Miss Emma Gray, of Richmond; Miss Lolla Miller, another of the bride's cousins; and Miss Jean Leonard, of Roland Park. The wedding will be a naval one, with the bridegroom, best man and ushers in the uniform of their rank.

Women's Meetings. At the regular monthly meeting of the Ginter Park Women's Club Thursday afternoon, a delightful musical will be tendered the club by the following artists: Miss Annie Louise Rinehart, Miss Myrtle Rogers, Mrs. William Rinehart and G. Watson James, Jr.

The board of managers of the Richmond Exchange for Women's Work will meet April 12 at noon, in the rooms of the exchange. The meeting is postponed from Friday, April 11, which falls this year on Good Friday. The Richmond Council of Jewish Women will meet this afternoon at 8:15 o'clock in the Sabbath school room of Temple Beth Anshah. The transaction of general business will be followed by an astronomical lecture on "Other Worlds" given by Professor Charles H. Winston, of Richmond College. Miss Corinne Samuels will render a vocal solo, with Mrs. John D. Murphy as accompanist. Members are cordially invited to bring friends, also grown children, as guests of the council.

An important meeting of Senior Oakwood Memorial Association will be held Friday, April 5, at 4 P. M., in the home of Mrs. C. W. Massie, of 2721 East Broad Street.

Reception at the Mansion. Miss William H. Hagan, who will receive in the Executive Mansion on Monday afternoon, in honor of the Kappa Delta Sorority, which will be in convention at the Jefferson Hotel next week. There will be seventy members of the sorority in Richmond, and some very pretty entertainments will be done in their honor.

In and Out of Town. Mrs. D. Saunders, of Crewe, Va., who has been visiting Mrs. L. E. Hurt, has returned home.

Mrs. Elanett Shepherd, of Dumfries, will have, as her guest during Easter week, Mrs. Edgar B. Walters, of New York.

Mrs. Charles Oakes, of New York, is the guest of Mrs. James J. Hickey.

Misses Edith and Elizabeth Hatcher, who have been spending the winter in Bryn Mawr and New York, will return to their home, at Park Union, Va., this time to attend the annual reception of the Cheverton Literary Society of the Fork Union Military Academy.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Carter, of Fayetteville, West Va., are with their daughter, Miss Vivian Carter, who has been brought from Hollings to Johnstone-Willie Hospital, this city.

Miss Katherine Hawes has gone North for Easter, and will remain to say good-bye to relatives who are going abroad for some months.

Mrs. Mary Johnston has returned from a short trip to Hot Springs. Miss Eloise Johnston will remain at the Hot for some days longer.

Mrs. A. J. Lefroy will spend the summer with relatives in England and Ireland, and will sail from New York on May 21.

Mrs. Guillianen, of New York, arrives to-day to visit Mrs. James W. Sharp, of North Harrison Street, until after Easter.

Mrs. W. W. Tonia, of Norfolk, will spend the summer with Adjutant-General and Mrs. Sale, at their suburban home.

Miss Elizabeth Prior is the guest of the Misses Hancock, at "Hillside," Keswick, Va., for several weeks.

Miss Ellen H. Kent, of Louisa, who has been visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Chief Justice Edward Douglas White, in Washington, arrived in Richmond on yesterday, and is visiting her brother, Mr. R. M. Kent, Jr., at 615 Seminary Avenue, Ginter Park.

Work Begins on New Depot. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Harrisonburg, Va., April 2.—Work has started on the new $30,000 depot, which W. E. D. Stokes, the New York millionaire, will build here for his road, the Chesapeake and Western Railway. The town of Harrisonburg contains $5,000 to the work. The line will be extended a mile from the old depot to the site of the new, which is 100 yards from the Baltimore and Ohio and Southern Railroads. The new station will be completed by November, and Harrisonburg will then have practically a big union station.

Virginia Elopers Wed. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Elizabeth City, N. C., April 2.—Eloping from their home in South Norfolk, William Hurst and Miss Virginia Hedges, both of the old Dominion, arrived here yesterday to be married. Register of deeds Menden refused to issue the license on account of the apparent youthfulness of the pair, but, undaunted, the determined couple hired a conveyance and rushed over to Camden county, where the license was secured and the marriage uniting the young couple was performed by Mr. W. Farebee, a justice of the peace.

"TELL IT TO THE WORLD"

Says Texas Lady, in a Letter She Writes, Regarding Her Past Troubles

Wills Point, Texas.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Victoria Stallings says: "Words are too feeble to express my gratitude for what Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me."

I believe I would have been dead had I not gotten relief from Cardui, as I did. I did not recover from my confinement as I should, so my mother advised me to take Cardui, and after taking half a bottle I was soon all right.

Before taking Cardui I had a dreadful cough and awful pains, but now I am strong and in better health than I ever was in my life.

I cannot say half enough in regard to its merits. You can tell the world what Cardui did for me. I advise all suffering ladies to try it."

Cardui has proven itself to be the ideal tonic for women. It is composed wholly of perfectly harmless vegetable ingredients, which act specifically on the weakened womanly organs, helping to strengthen the muscles and nerves and to build them up to health.

Cardui has been in successful use for more than half a century. Give Cardui a trial. It will help you.

N. B.—Write to Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper on request.

8-in Cold Teaspoons, 8/3c ea
The E. B. Taylor Co.
23 W. Broad Street and
1011 East Main Street.

Are a wonderfully smooth Laxative, and quickly relieve Indigestion, Constipation, Rheumatism and Uric Acid Affections. Try them.

No Risk to Run
In getting glasses from us. Prices reasonable. Expert examinations free.

Smith & Webster
Opticians, 612 E. Main Street.

Moth Balls, all you want, at 4c pound at

Tragle's

THE WAGONS
Sydner & Hundley
SEVENTH AND GRACE

Specials EVERY DAY
Bernard, Frances & Company
Broad and Fifth Streets

Special Offerings Today
Turnish Your Home at
RYAN SMITHS
BIG STORE

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Elizabeth City, N. C., April 2.—Last night at the home of Register of Deeds J. V. Menden, in Harney Street, Major B. J. Jenkins, of Norfolk, and Miss Mary Coppensmith, daughter of Mrs. S. H. Reid, of Cedar Street, were married, the ceremony being performed by W. Menden, a justice of the peace.

THARMIMERS

Men's Check Muslin Night Robes

A 75c Value, 50c.

Men's $1.00 Pongee Shirts, with attached collars, neat styles, 59c.

Men's 39c Imported Silk Lisle Hose, in black, navy, tan and gray; sale price, 25c.

HOUSES NOT ABLE TO FOLLOW TRAILS

Assailants of Bowling Green Merchant Still at Large—Early Arrests Expected.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Bowling Green, Va., April 2.—J. L. Farmer, the merchant, whose store is situated about a mile and a half from here, and who was badly beaten and robbed of a sum of money, lies in a very precarious condition, not yet having regained consciousness. His assailants have not been found. The two bloodhounds from the State farm in charge of Captain Martin and a convict worked on the trail till a late hour last night and left this morning for Richmond. The dogs took up a trail near the store where the parties picked up a brick, which was used in striking Farmer on the head, and led towards the store in a circle around it, passing across the road that leads to Port Royal about a hundred yards from the store into a field which was followed for nearly two miles, and then lost it. They were then taken back and took up another trail, which they followed for a considerable distance with the same result. The keeper in charge said there had been so many people at the scene it was impossible to do anything.

The assault took place in the store, and it is supposed the parties came in under the pretense of making a purchase, as there were two small bags of coffee and a small bag of cakes on the counter, which they left. One thing which puzzles the authorities is how Farmer got from his store behind the counter, where he was knocked down and beaten almost to death, to his room above the store without any blood marks on the wall leading to his room or on the steps or floor. He was found in his bed covered up, with his coat off. In his room on the opposite side from where the bed is located there are two long blood marks on the wall about four inches wide and between eighteen inches and two feet long, and a pool of blood near the bed. It is supposed that his assailants thought he was dead and carried him to his room and put him in bed, for what purpose no one can determine. While Farmer has not been able to make any clear statement in answer to some questions asked him, he said there were four or five white men. It is thought that there will be several arrests soon.

MAX VOTE BONDS FOR GOOD ROADS
Petition for Election on Issue of $125,000 Sent to County Supervisors.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Bowling Green, Va., April 2.—A meeting of the Ways and Means Committee of the Good Roads Association was held here to-day. Captain C. T. Smith was elected permanent chairman, and R. L. Beale, secretary. R. L. Beale in a brief address presented the objects of the meeting, and explained the proposition of the Richmond-Washington Association to contribute to the counties, through which the Quebec-Miami highway passed 50 per cent of the outside aid, which would amount to about $500 a mile, and the 20 per cent retained by the association for bridges and maintenance.

A resolution was offered by A. F. Turner, directing the supervisors of the county to present to the court a petition for a bond issue, and calling for an election. The resolution provided that the county be authorized to issue bonds not exceeding $125,000 for the permanent improvement of the roads of the county, to be divided among the several districts of the county according to the assessed value of the district, and that an amount not exceeding $500 per mile be contributed to the link in the Washington-Richmond highway which passes through this county. The resolution also provided that a committee of eight be appointed from each district in the county to designate the roads in the several districts other than the link in the highway, to be permanently improved. The resolution was discussed by a number present, and adopted.

The following is the committee appointed to designate the roads to be permanently improved: S. E. Pitts, Dr. A. L. Martin, J. J. Williams, S. W. Broadus, C. A. Shuman, R. H. Eager, L. J. Jordan and A. B. Marshall. Ready Church District—Clarence Williams, R. D. Freeman, L. R. Christian, R. O. Wortham, T. B. Jeter, S. C. Reatross, R. L. Blanton and Walter Dysop. Port Royal District—Dr. Charles U. Gravatt, C. P. Hicks, George P. Lyon, J. D. C. Gouldin, C. R. Conway, B. M. Skinner, W. H. Vaughan, F. M. Travis, Madison District—W. W. Waite, Dana C. Smith, Dr. E. C. Cobb, Oscar Carneal, H. F. Coleman, C. L. Haley, Thomas H. Chewing, W. L. Blanton. This committee will report on next Saturday.

Jenkins—Coppensmith. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Elizabeth City, N. C., April 2.—Last night at the home of Register of Deeds J. V. Menden, in Harney Street, Major B. J. Jenkins, of Norfolk, and Miss Mary Coppensmith, daughter of Mrs. S. H. Reid, of Cedar Street, were married, the ceremony being performed by W. Menden, a justice of the peace.

Don't miss the Duke of Sutherland
WRONGLY DESCRIBED

Infinitely Cleverer Than His Father, Who Was Regarded as Quite Brilliant.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY.
WHY the Duke of Sutherland should be so frequently described, both in English and American newspapers, as dull, it is difficult to understand, and it constitutes nothing less than a slander upon one of the most useful members of the British House of Lords. He is an infinitely cleverer man than his father, the late duke, who passed for quite brilliant, and, like him, is an adept in all questions relating to mining, farming, and above all, engineering, in the practical side of which he is a past master, and can not only drive the passenger and freight locomotives on his vast Sutherlandshire estates, which embrace the entire county, and which cover an area of over a million acres, but what is more, he can repair the locomotives, like a skilled mechanic. If any part of the machinery comes to grief, he cares but little for society, which he shuns, speaks with force and ability, though rarely in the House of Lords, and only on questions that he thoroughly understands.

But his one pet hobby of all is his work of promotion of Scotch and English emigration to Canada, and what he also proclaims to be the Canadianizing of Great Britain. He has invested enormous sums in buying large tracts of land in the most fertile portion of Canada laid out, and bungalows built thereon, so that the newly arrived settler from his Scotch estates in Sutherlandshire may not find his wife and children without a roof tree, and with all the work of clearing the land before them. The duke helps the settler to purchase his farm, and is able to watch with satisfaction the process of approximating the standard of living, and the ideas of the average Scotchman, to those of the average man in Canada. He spends much money in keeping up close and intimate intercourse between the Scots in Canada and those whom they have left behind them, so that the latter may become imbued with the ambition for the superior standard of living that prevails in Canada.

Don Jaime, the Spanish pretender, less sagacious than his father, the late Don Carlos, has appealed to the French courts to establish his claim to the coat-of-arms formerly borne by the Bourbon Kings of France, which, after the deposition of King Charles X. by the revolution of 1830, were assumed by his grandson and next heir, the Duc de Bordeaux, and Comte de Chambord, who reigned for twenty-four hours, as a child, under the title of Henry V., at whose demise they were assumed, first by the late Comte de Paris, and afterwards

No Spanish Bourbon line had ever undergone so complete a Frenchization, which the Duke of Anjou, who had ascended the Spanish throne as Philip IV., had surrendered, until the letter of the pretender, Don Carlos, to the Duke of Orleans, and subsequently the lawsuit of General Francis de Bourbon against the Duke of Orleans.

The latter suit was brought to a close in a rather ignominious fashion. General Francis de Bourbon was given to understand, by Queen Cristina, of Spain, who was regent of the kingdom at the time, that unless at once the Duke dropped the title of Anjou, which he had assumed without the authority of the Spanish crown, he would at once be subjected to those severe penalties which Spain has in store for those who assume titular distinctions without due warrant, and who also intimate to the public that he would not merely be deprived of his commission as general in the army, but also of all prospects of pensions and allowances, unless he at once withdrew his preposterous pretensions. The Duke, who had much for General Francis de Bourbon, who subsequently was jailed in Madrid, by the Governor, for attempting to use his name of Bourbon to interfere with a police raid on a common gambling house in Madrid. Now the matter has reached a fresh phase, and Don Jaime, the Carlist pretender to the throne of Spain (who is maintaining his reputation as an inveterate gambler by winning $50,000 in two days' sittings at Monte Carlo the other day), has started a fresh suit in the French courts, asking them to prevent the Duke of Orleans from using the arms of the chief of the royal house of France. Briers have been exchanged, that of the Duke of Orleans, which is very short and to the point, and attention to the fact that since the Duke of Orleans, in 1700, abjured all his rights to the throne of France, the only line that retained any right of succession to the chieftainship of the royal house of France, and to the use of its arms, was the Carlist branch, then headed by Louis XIV., and which became extinct on the death of the Comte de Chambord; that of Orleans, of which he was the chief, since the Neapolitan Bourbons and the Bourbons of Parma, were both descended from that Duke of Anjou, who renounced his rank and his place in the line of succession to the French throne, in order to become King of Spain, in 1700.

There is no doubt as to the issue of the trial, for French history unhesitatingly condemns the Duke of Orleans, and falling him, those of his brother Ferdinand, Duke of Montpensier. The Bourbons of the Orleans line are now quite numerous, and it is not until they are all extinguished in the male line that the rights of the Spanish Carlist, Parma or Naples Bourbons to anything French can possibly come into line.

Finally, both the Duke of Orleans and his brother, the Duke de Montpensier, have been born as French citizens, and have received their education in France, whereas Don Jaime is not of French, or even of Spanish birth, spent his boyhood in England and in Italy, and received his military training in the Russian cavalry in which he has never advanced beyond the rank of captain, the retired list of Grade Hussars, owing to his addiction to drink and gambling. It is these two shortcomings that stand in the way of a marriage that might foster his monarchist projects.

(Copyright, 1912, by the Brentwood Company.)

DUKE OF SUTHERLAND WRONGLY DESCRIBED

Infinitely Cleverer Than His Father, Who Was Regarded as Quite Brilliant.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY.
WHY the Duke of Sutherland should be so frequently described, both in English and American newspapers, as dull, it is difficult to understand, and it constitutes nothing less than a slander upon one of the most useful members of the British House of Lords. He is an infinitely cleverer man than his father, the late duke, who passed for quite brilliant, and, like him, is an adept in all questions relating to mining, farming, and above all, engineering, in the practical side of which he is a past master, and can not only drive the passenger and freight locomotives on his vast Sutherlandshire estates, which embrace the entire county, and which cover an area of over a million acres, but what is more, he can repair the locomotives, like a skilled mechanic. If any part of the machinery comes to grief, he cares but little for society, which he shuns, speaks with force and ability, though rarely in the House of Lords, and only on questions that he thoroughly understands.

But his one pet hobby of all is his work of promotion of Scotch and English emigration to Canada, and what he also proclaims to be the Canadianizing of Great Britain. He has invested enormous sums in buying large tracts of land in the most fertile portion of Canada laid out, and bungalows built thereon, so that the newly arrived settler from his Scotch estates in Sutherlandshire may not find his wife and children without a roof tree, and with all the work of clearing the land before them. The duke helps the settler to purchase his farm, and is able to watch with satisfaction the process of approximating the standard of living, and the ideas of the average Scotchman, to those of the average man in Canada. He spends much money in keeping up close and intimate intercourse between the Scots in Canada and those whom they have left behind them, so that the latter may become imbued with the ambition for the superior standard of living that prevails in Canada.

Don Jaime, the Spanish pretender, less sagacious than his father, the late Don Carlos, has appealed to the French courts to establish his claim to the coat-of-arms formerly borne by the Bourbon Kings of France, which, after the deposition of King Charles X. by the revolution of 1830, were assumed by his grandson and next heir, the Duc de Bordeaux, and Comte de Chambord, who reigned for twenty-four hours, as a child, under the title of Henry V., at whose demise they were assumed, first by the late Comte de Paris, and afterwards

No Spanish Bourbon line had ever undergone so complete a Frenchization, which the Duke of Anjou, who had ascended the Spanish throne as Philip IV., had surrendered, until the letter of the pretender, Don Carlos, to the Duke of Orleans, and subsequently the lawsuit of General Francis de Bourbon against the Duke of Orleans.

The latter suit was brought to a close in a rather ignominious fashion. General Francis de Bourbon was given to understand, by Queen Cristina, of Spain, who was regent of the kingdom at the time, that unless at once the Duke dropped the title of Anjou, which he had assumed without the authority of the Spanish crown, he would at once be subjected to those severe penalties which Spain has in store for those who assume titular distinctions without due warrant, and who also intimate to the public that he would not merely be deprived of his commission as general in the army, but also of all prospects of pensions and allowances, unless he at once withdrew his preposterous pretensions. The Duke, who had much for General Francis de Bourbon, who subsequently was jailed in Madrid, by the Governor, for attempting to use his name of Bourbon to interfere with a police raid on a common gambling house in Madrid. Now the matter has reached a fresh phase, and Don Jaime, the Carlist pretender to the throne of Spain (who is maintaining his reputation as an inveterate gambler by winning $50,000 in two days' sittings at Monte Carlo the other day), has started a fresh suit in the French courts, asking them to prevent the Duke of Orleans from using the arms of the chief of the royal house of France. Briers have been exchanged, that of the Duke of Orleans, which is very short and to the point, and attention to the fact that since the Duke of Orleans, in 1700, abjured all his rights to the throne of France, the only line that retained any right of succession to the chieftainship of the royal house of France, and to the use of its arms, was the Carlist branch, then headed by Louis XIV., and which became extinct on the death of the Comte de Chambord; that of Orleans, of which he was the chief, since the Neapolitan Bourbons and the Bourbons of Parma, were both descended from that Duke of Anjou, who renounced his rank and his place in the line of succession to the French throne, in order to become King of Spain, in 1700.

There is no doubt as to the issue of the trial, for French history unhesitatingly condemns the Duke of Orleans, and falling him, those of his brother Ferdinand, Duke of Montpensier. The Bourbons of the Orleans line are now quite numerous, and it is not until they are all extinguished in the male line that the rights of the Spanish Carlist, Parma or Naples Bourbons to anything French can possibly come into line.

Finally, both the Duke of Orleans and his brother, the Duke de Montpensier, have been born as French citizens, and have received their education in France, whereas Don Jaime is not of French, or even of Spanish birth, spent his boyhood in England and in Italy, and received his military training in the Russian cavalry in which he has never advanced beyond the rank of captain, the retired list of Grade Hussars, owing to his addiction to drink and gambling. It is these two shortcomings that stand in the way of a marriage that might foster his monarchist projects.

(Copyright, 1912, by the Brentwood Company.)

You can buy a dozen cans of GOOD LUCK
The Patented Tin Foil Cans in which Good Luck Baking Powder is packed prevent deterioration. "Good Luck" could not be sold regularly in solid carload lots if it did not fully retain its High Leavening Power.

At your grocer's.
The Southern Manufacturing Company,
Richmond, Va.

Good Luck

Easter Bridal Suit
at
Jones Bros. & Co., Inc.,
1418-1420 E. Main St.

J. B. Mosby & Co.
Women's $25.00 Spring Suits, $16.50.

Dreyfus & Co.
201 E. Broad
Important displays of new Spring Suits, Dresses and Millinery.

Tyler's
FOR CLOTHES

HAMMOND
Headquarters for Wedding Flowers

FROM FACTORY TO YOU—
ROUNTREE'S
For All Leather Goods, Trunks and Cases.

703 East Broad

Wedding Gifts
Gifts selected here are appreciated most.
Our standard of excellence and good taste is realized by all.

Schwarzchild Bros.
Richmond's Leading Jewelers,
Second and Broad Sts.